

Long Time Martial Arts Association Launches New School in Grand Fashion

On September 6th, 2014, the American Budo Kai, a Martial Arts Association which is over 40 years old and consists of over 10 locations, launched its newest school, located at 16 Old Brookside Road in Randolph NJ, the Randolph Martial Arts Academy. The event was hosted by the association's newest Head Instructor, Mr. Daniel Hopler, and one of its directors, Joan Felenczak.

The Grand Opening Open House featured free trial classes, refreshments, raffles and prizes, gifts, numerous demonstrations, and a special anti-bullying seminar, and was attended by numerous residents of Randolph and the surrounding communities as well as over a dozen of the Association's Black Belts. "It was a great opportunity to not only provide fun and entertainment for the families of Randolph, but to also have a number of kids and teenagers get a chance to try out some traditional martial arts training", said the school's Head Instructor, Daniel Hopler.

The Open House was well received by all of the families who attended and the school has been a hit with parents. "We have tried many karate studios, but the Randolph Martial Arts Academy is really the best we have encountered so far. The Randolph Martial Arts Academy staff pay attention to each and every student and are very enthusiastic about instruction. The whole ambience of the studio is very encouraging. The floor space is big and very clean. Our daughter really enjoys it. There is a lot of competition out there, but we heartily recommend the Randolph Martial Arts Academy studio. Where your children train for karate can make a very big difference. We really believe that this is the best bang for the buck", stated parents Alex & Yanina Keoskey.
